Present

Psychologist - Private Practice
San Francisco and Berkeley, California
I work with an adult population with a wide variety of diagnoses including mood disorders and anxiety disorders. I use a combination of psychodynamic therapy to address underlying dysfunctional patterns and cognitive-behavioral approaches to ameliorate symptoms and facilitate change. I specialize in working with gay and bisexual men addressing identity issues, sexuality, body image, HIV, family issues, and the anxiety and depression often associated with difficulty in these areas. I also specialize in working with gay male couples.
